

In the Supreme Court of the State of Alaska

Cory D. White,

Petitioner,

v.

State of Alaska,

Respondent.

Supreme Court No. S-17886

Notice

Appellate Rule 403(h)

Date of Notice: 9/17/2020

Trial Court Case No. 3PA-16-01871CR

The court of appeals in Cory D. White v. State of Alaska found that it had no jurisdiction to determine whether the sentence imposed by the trial court was excessive and referred that issue to the supreme court for discretionary review under Appellate Rules 402 and 403 as provided by Appellate Rule 215(k). Court of Appeals Summary Disposition No. 0142 dated 08/21/2020.

On or before 9/30/2020, counsel for the petitioner shall advise the court and opposing counsel whether petitioner wishes to file a petition for review under Appellate Rules 402 and 403 or, in the alternative, whether petitioner wishes to rely on the arguments submitted in the briefing in the court of appeals. The State shall have 10 days from the date of service of the petitioners notice or petition to file a response, or to advise the court and opposing counsel that it is relying on its briefing in the court of appeals. If either party chooses to rely on the briefing in the court of appeals, six copies of that brief shall be submitted with the notice.
